GENERAL

Mains of Camno is lovely development of 3 houses set in a peaceful rural location with outstanding views over the surrounding countryside towards the Sidlaw Hills. Located a short distance to the west of the village of Meigle, Mains of Camno is well placed for swift access to Dundee and Perth. The development comprises of 3 properties. One of which is a detached new build home with the other two being steading conversions. The steadings have been sympathetically developed to create outstanding homes of the highest quality, offering modern standards of insulation and technology, whilst retaining the best elements of their character including a magnificent roundel. The steadings are of stone construction under a pitched slate roof. The new build home is of traditional style with a natural stone and wet dash render external finish under a pitched slate roof. All of the properties benefit from spacious public rooms and generously proportioned bedrooms. Each home is individually designed and includes features such as under-floor heating, oak panel doors, tiled walls and floors to bathrooms, quality sanitary ware. High specification kitchens with corian and woodblock work surfaces and quality appliances. Each property benefits from its own garden which are top soiled and seeded. In addition each property has a rear garden, providing private outside space.

This part of Perthshire provides a wide range of outdoor activities. There are a number of excellent golf courses in Perthshire, including Murrayshall at Scone, the Rosemount championship course in Blairgowrie and Carnoustie which hosts the Open Championship within comfortable driving distance to the east. There are a great number of walks in the Sidlaw Hills to the south. Outdoor pursuits such as shooting, fishing and horse riding are available nearby. In addition the ski slopes of Glenshee can be reached within an hours drive
